

7. ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

VISION

Chico's economy in 2030 is strong and diversified. Many companies have established their headquarters in or relocated to the City because of its high quality of life, skilled workforce, community resources, opportunities for investment, and business-friendly environment. Chico is known as a premier center for commerce and a haven for innovation and entrepreneurship in the North State.

INTRODUCTION

The Economic Development Element guides the City's use of resources to protect and improve Chico's economic vitality.

Economic development refers to activities that strengthen and diversify the local economic base of Chico. Local government plays an important role by creating conditions that foster investment within the community. Chico is the center of economic activity for the tri-county area (Butte, Glenn, and Tehama counties), with premier retail, a strong base of export employers, and major medical and educational services supporting the region. Maintaining this role in the future will be critical as well as challenging.

Chico must address the current mismatch between local skills and local job opportunities. The community has an educated and trained population but lacks corresponding professional and skilled jobs and incomes. Although the city is slightly more affluent than Butte County overall, the median household income in the Chico area lags behind the state by a substantial margin. Fortunately, housing in Chico remains relatively affordable for both renters and homeowners. The City will need to monitor jobs and housing trends to ensure there are opportunities to live, work, and enjoy the quality of life in Chico.

In recent years, the City's structural budget deficit put a renewed focus on the need for progress in economic development, not only to help improve the private economy, but also to improve the City's revenue base so that it can continue to provide a high level of municipal services. In 2007, the City Council adopted an Economic Development Strategy to formalize the City's leadership role in local economic development efforts to improve the health of the regional economy. It directs the City to foster a positive climate for economic development, ensure the readiness of physical conditions to support development, target public investments to support local prosperity, create partnerships within the region to help attract investment, and ensure a quality of life that supports the local economy. The City's key role in economic development can help build a sustainable community for years to come. This element provides policies that will advance the Economic Development Strategy, which can be found on the City’s website and at City Hall. The Economic Development Strategy is one of many important implementation documents that will be reviewed and updated as needed within the life of this General Plan to ensure it’s meeting the City’s short and long term economic needs.

ISSUES AND CONSIDERATIONS

This section of the element identifies and addresses primary economic development issues raised during the outreach efforts for the General Plan Update. Policy guidance is found in the goals, policies, and actions section of this element. An explanation of specialized terms can be found in the General Plan Glossary (Appendix A).

CHICO’S ECONOMIC ROLE

Chico has historically served as a regional hub for base-level employment, agriculture, retail services, health care, and education. Due to the economic growth of other urbanized areas in the region, Chico has seen a reduction in its share of the region’s jobs and retail sales. Planning for the right mix of land uses in the right locations for new base level employment and retail opportunities is essential to the City’s continued economic vitality. Given existing business innovation, the core of intellectual capital, expanding agricultural opportunities, and a business-friendly environment, Chico is exceptionally well positioned to be successful in the local, regional, and global economy.

HIGHER PAYING JOBS

By the year 2030, it is estimated that Chico’s economy will have expanded to produce over 20,000 new jobs. A key issue is how to support an increase in the proportion of professional and highly skilled jobs. While Chico has a relatively strong employment base today, incomes have not been keeping pace with the median home price and cost of living. Many young adults who were raised in Chico, local college graduates, and would-be transplants to Chico decide to locate outside the area because they are unable to find suitable, well-paying jobs. Chico’s base-level employers have difficulty recruiting for higher-level positions from outside of Chico because there are limited additional, local employment opportunities. Chico seeks to attract and retain a skilled workforce by creating an environment of innovation and entrepreneurship that can provide quality jobs for its residents. This element supports a strategy to diversify the employment base by actively supporting emerging industries. An important component of promoting economic development is providing adequate and available land in appropriate locations to ensure that opportunities exist for businesses to grow and for new businesses to locate in Chico.

Base Level Employers are businesses that import money from outside the community by exporting products or services.

7. ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

RETAIL AND SERVICE EMPLOYMENT BASE

As Chico expands its base level employment industries, the City must at the same time support growth in the retail and service sectors. Chico has long been the regional retail and services hub between Sacramento and Redding. With a mix of large and small, as well as national and local retail choices, Chico has been successful in capturing local and regional spending. Sales tax revenue generated by this strong regional retail base has been the primary funding mechanism for public services that support Chico's quality of life.

Chico's retail and services industry is strengthened through tourism. Visitors are drawn to the area to enjoy rural scenery, arts and cultural activities, recreation, and special events. There is an opportunity to build upon existing tourist attractions to provide more reasons for visitors to stay and spend money locally. This element seeks to increase tourism by enhancing visitor-oriented attractions and accommodations and by supporting the dissemination of information regarding tourism.

SUSTAINABLE ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

A healthy economy is one component of long-term sustainability, and a sustainable economy depends on a healthy environment to provide essential resources and a high quality of life. A sustainable economy also requires a healthy society to provide entrepreneurial skills, labor, and markets for goods. Therefore, a sustainable economy must support, conserve and enhance the environmental and social equity components of sustainability.

In keeping with the vision for a sustainable economy in Chico, the General Plan promotes infill, redevelopment, and quality new development to meet the City's future job and housing needs. The City will play a pivotal role in ensuring that adequate infrastructure exists to provide access, capacity, and connectivity to infill, redevelopment and greenfield areas to promote efficient and intensified use of the available land supply. Key infrastructure assets such as the highway, the airport, the railroad, and non-motorized circulation routes need to be fully utilized in order to create a strong economy for the community.

The use of local resources and skills; conservation of energy, water and other resources; and reduction of dependence on distant and non-renewable resources should play a central role in Chico's economic development.

7. ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

LOCAL GOVERNMENT ROLE

Implementing the Economic Development Strategy will confirm the City's leadership role in facilitating and supporting a strong and healthy local economy. Given changing economic conditions, local governments are competing for business interests. Moving forward, the City may need to update the Economic Development Strategy to adjust to a changing economic climate to ensure that Chico competes successfully in the regional and global economy. One key area where the City can take a leadership role in economic development is in its attitude toward business, including a streamlined project review process and predictability in decision-making.

READINESS AND INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY

Property is considered to be shovel ready when it can be readily served by existing infrastructure, utilities, and other public services and its development is not significantly constrained by environmental conditions.

The essence of economic development is a readiness for investment to occur. Factors that affect the readiness of land include location, appropriate zoning, availability of infrastructure, and environmental constraints. While Chico is an attractive place to do business, the number of opportunities available for immediate investment is constrained, in particular for sites of five or more acres. The City recognizes the need to play a role in actively increasing land readiness, also known as "shovel ready."

REDEVELOPMENT AGENCY TOOLS

Redevelopment is a tool created by State law to assist local governments in revitalizing deteriorated and blighted areas. When a redevelopment agency is formed, it adopts a redevelopment plan defining one or more redevelopment project areas and the blight which will be eliminated within those areas. After a project area is established, future increases in property taxes within that area are allocated to the redevelopment agency; this is referred to as the tax increment and is the source of funding for redevelopment agencies.

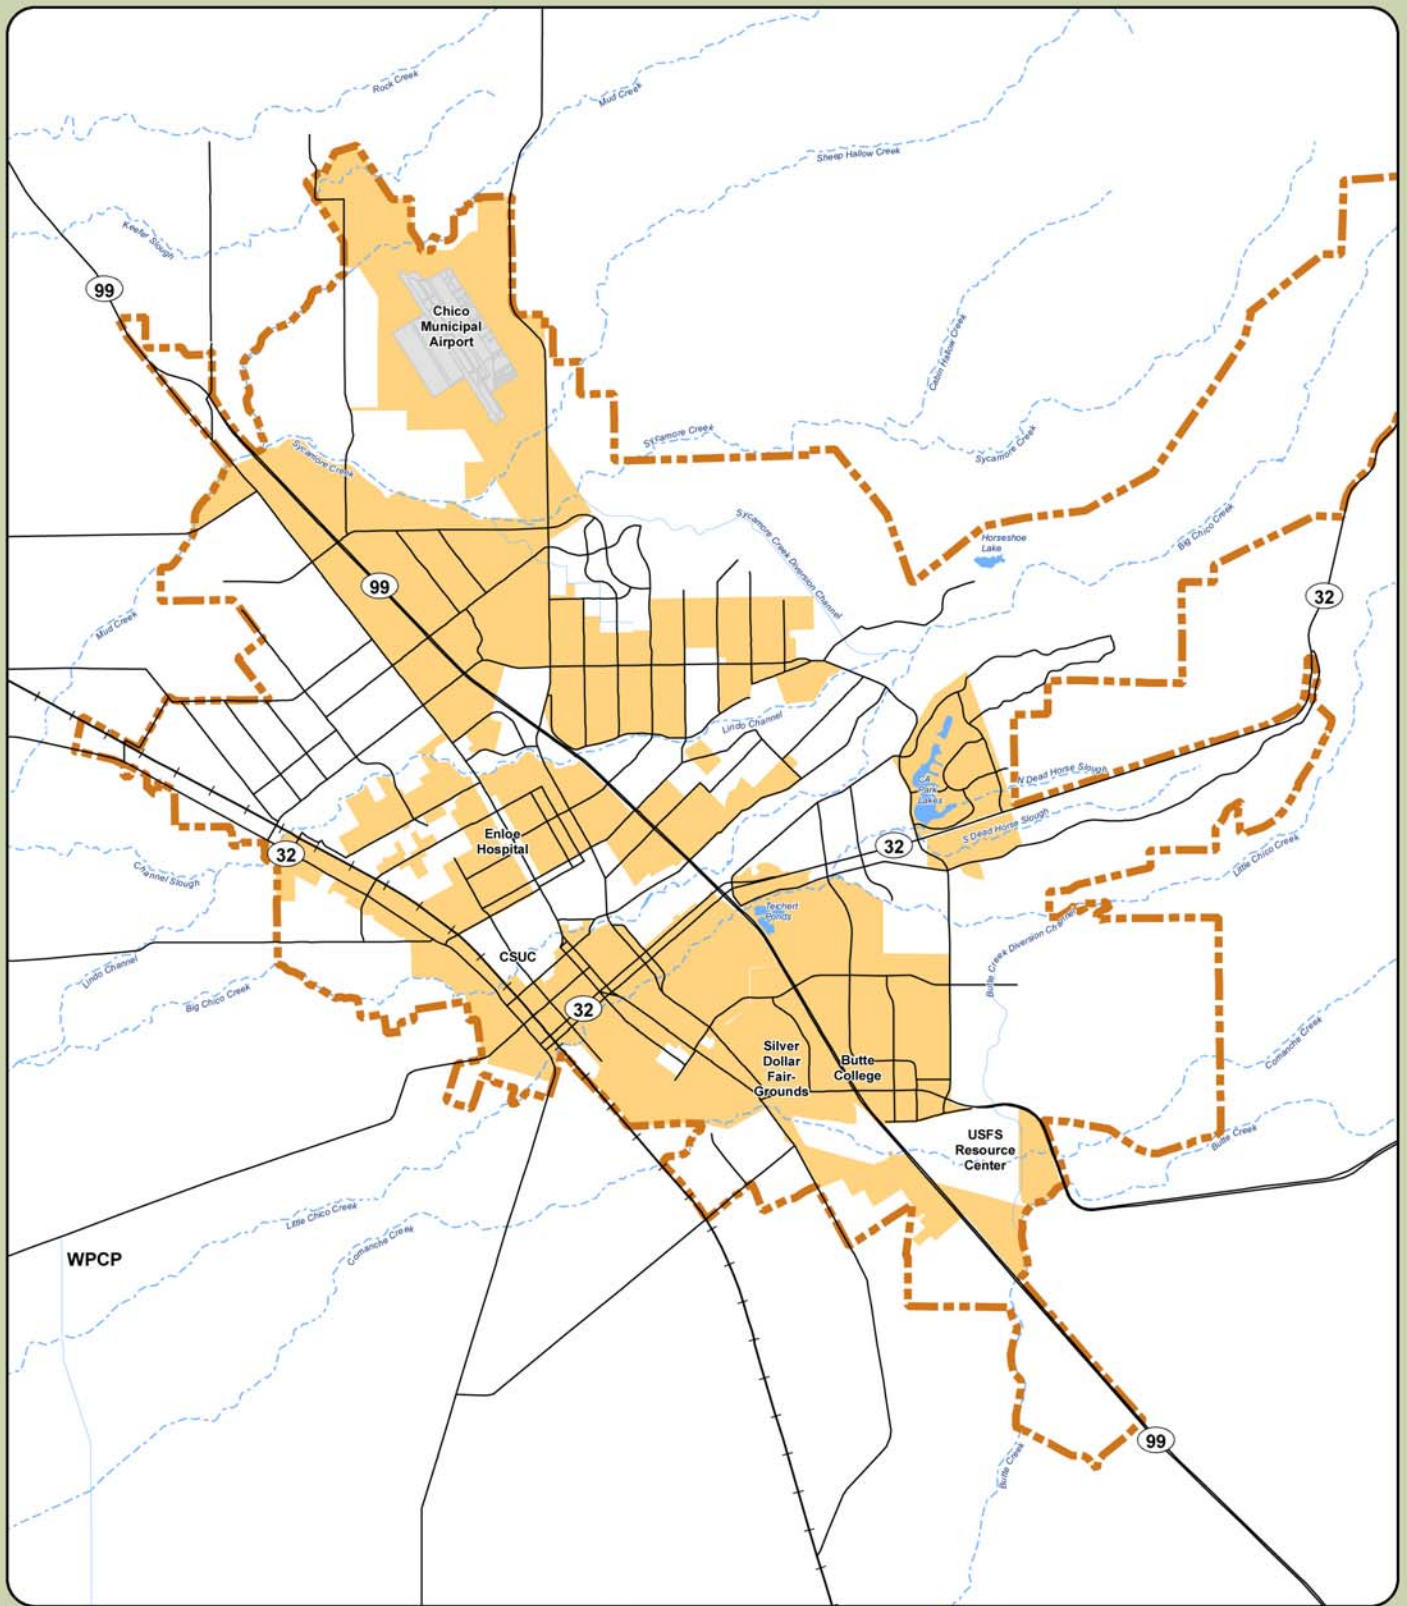

7. ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Redevelopment agencies are limited in the ways they can spend money. For example, agencies can use funds to acquire property and build public buildings and infrastructure, but they cannot pay for maintenance or providing services. Redevelopment agencies are generally required to spend money for projects located within designated project areas, although there are some exceptions. Redevelopment agencies can be useful tools in assembling land for redevelopment and providing public infrastructure which is necessary to encourage private development and investment that will expand business opportunities and create jobs.

The Chico Redevelopment Agency (RDA) project area is shown in Figure ED-1. While the RDA is distinct from the City, its activities are closely coordinated with City priorities. The RDA Five Year Implementation Plan identifies criteria for RDA investment, including meeting General Plan goals such as improving infrastructure, supporting infill, readying sites for investment, redeveloping the Opportunity Sites, and developing mixed-use projects. Page 3-9 of the Land Use Element identifies specific tools that the RDA possesses that can spur investment and economic development.
