

Fire Exit Plans For Your Place of Business

1. A fire evacuation plan should be worked out and given to each employee as well as posted in a prominent spot. Locations of fire doors and exits should be shown.
2. Keep an employee list handy. In case of fire one person should be assigned to take the list with him to account for everyone.
3. Have fire drills occasionally to see if your evacuation plans work.
4. Have the proper number and type of fire extinguishers in the right places. Seek the help of your local Fire Department to decide what you need.

DON'T FORGET THE FIRE TRIANGLE!

To have a fire, you must have three things:

1. Fuel: Something to burn
2. Heat: From something hot
3. Air: To supply oxygen

If you take away any one of them, the fire will go out!
